CONSTRUCTION SERVICES

The attorneys in our construction services group provide expert and cost-effective legal services to clients involved in construction projects in New Jersey, New York and around the country.

The firm represents owner-developers, general contractors, trade contractors, construction managers, architects and engineers, material suppliers and bonding companies. Our construction attorneys negotiate and prepare complex construction, construction management and design agreements, as well as project management, access and other project agreements. We advise our construction clients on a host of project related issues, including bonding and surety claims, construction and mechanic's liens, and building code and environmental compliance.

We represent our clients in the negotiation, mediation, arbitration and litigation of construction-related disputes, defect claims and design professional malpractice.
